calculate your valuation, divide the money you're asking for from investors by the percentage you're offering to the investors in return. Does it hold up? Is it a good deal for them? That's what matters. For example, if you offer half of the company for $250,000, you're saying that your business is worth $500,000 total. Is it? Does it have a track record? Management team?
